

ABSTRACT

[0063] Methods for storing data are provided. Preferably, the method includes the steps of: providing a data storage device, and preventing an emitter associated with a first data cluster of the data storage device from writing data to another one of 5 the data clusters. Data storage devices also are provided.